

I do not understand why there is a fee to renew a vanity call sign. It should not cost anymore to look up the information on a vanity call sign than it costs to look up an assigned call sign. You claim that you have to make sure the vanity/assigned call sign is not already used, well you know it is as it was assigned to the one renewing it. So I think you should not charge for the renewal of a vanity call sign. I do support a higher fee for the original process, but not renewal
